Consultation Process

Prior to an initial consultation with one of our floral designers, we suggest that you ensure you have, as a general guide, the following information at hand:

- Specific requirements and quantities i.e. what exactly you require
- Colour theme

When you are looking, consider SHAPE, COLOUR and FLOWER style.

Once you advise of your colours and theme for the wedding we can make some suitable suggestions for you.

If you require additional inspiration or ideas, please also review the following wedding flowers magazines. These are often a great start to finding a flower that you like and a style and shape that compliments your bridal party:

- Modern Wedding Flowers
- Bride To Be Wedding Flowers

Make note of page numbers or website addresses in order for Floral Collections consultant to view your preference or scan or copy the pictures / ideas and send them to Floral Collections for review.

We also recommend you e-mail or mail a sample of the fabric in your gowns – especially bridesmaid's fabric for our review

You will be able to view some of our bouquets on the following websites:

- www.hamiltonislandweddings.com.au

Costings

In terms of pricing structures, this all depends on the type and style of flowers selected. An initial quote will be processed and sent to you following your consultation.

Our Flowers

To ensure you receive the highest quality and freshest flowers on your wedding day, we purchase our flowers from the Sydney Flower Markets and have them flown in daily. Quality wholesalers hand select our flowers at the markets and professionally pack, transport and freight direct to the island.

As we are located on Hamilton Island your floral arrangements will be delivered fresh from the cool room direct to your room, ceremony or reception to ensure maximum freshness and quality in our humid tropical climate.
